

CHILE

Santiago de Chile

Spanish and skiing in the Andes

Stretching over half the length of South America, Chile boasts snow-covered soaring Andes Mountains, baking deserts, beautiful Pacific beaches and mild temperate rain forests.

However, despite its unspoilt natural wonders, Chile is a far more developed and prosperous country than most in Latin America, with a stable political system and flourishing economy. This makes Chile the perfect choice for anyone interested in learning Spanish in South America but who is 'a bit nervous' about what they may find. Chile is a large country, rich in history and culture, full of magnificent landscapes and incredible natural beauty, yet at the same time predominantly safe and very accessible.

Santiago de Chile is ideally located, in the centre of the country, half way between the Andes Mountains and the Pacific coast. Santiago is a modern capital city, with a high standard of living, excellent shopping, incredible night-life, first-rate sports facilities and communications.

Our school stands in its own grounds, in a prosperous residential area of Santiago. The school has 15 classrooms, a library, wireless Internet access throughout the building, an Internet café and school patio for students to use at break time and after class. The maximum group size is just 6 students, providing lots of personal attention to each and every student. As well as standard Spanish courses, our school offers a very popular 'Spanish and Skiing' course, plus a wide range of trips, sports, visits and excursions. There is also a 'Multi-Stay' course, allowing students to divide their course between our schools in Santiago (Chile) and in Buenos Aires (Argentina), one-way flights and airport transfers included.
